Embarassing Plight of William Bailey, Who Possesses One Wife Too Many.

Like Napoleon, He Has His Josephine, but Unlike the Maker of Kings, He Is Unable to Command the Court to Divorce the Woman.

INDIANA.

Interesting Case Now Attracting Attention in Daviess County.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 .- The Bailey di vorce case was tried Saturday, and, after taking the case under advisement several days, Judge Hefron denied the petition on the grounds that the plaintiff had not acquired a residence in the State. This is a suit, it will be remembered, wherein Wm. H. Bailey married a Miss Hannafin, of Philadelphia, after having secured a divorce from his first wife, Josephine. The first wife appeared here four weeks ago and had the divorce proceedings set aside because she had not been given notice that the suit was pending. Bailey immediately brought another suit for divorce from Josephine Bailey, with the foregoing results. The case is quite complicated and leaves two women claiming Bailey as their husband. He cannot bring a lawful suit for divorce again for nearly six months. He continues living with his second wife, Orleans Wells Still Flowing.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ORLEANS, Nov. 4 .- In yesterday's issue of the Journal a special from Mitchell announced that the mineral wells at this place had ceased flowing because of the drought. This report is incorrect, and has created no small amount of indignation among our people. No cause is assigned for such a statement, as the wells were largely patronized by Mitchell people and from hundreds of other places. They have always been a source of health to every one using the new famous water, and had effected cures where medicine failed. They are of inestimable value, and have given our city a wonderful imne days ago the flow began to weaken from some cause unknown, and after three days an investigation was ordered by the citizens, whereupon a plug of wood and a piece of coffee-sack was removed from the pipe. Immediately the water began to flow to its natural height, and still continues to do so.

Cane for the World's Fair.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TIPTON, Nov. 4 .- John Cash, of this city and foreman of the stone-mason's gang on the L. E. & W. railroad, has just completed a cane that he will exhibit at the world's fair. The cane is made of black walnut and represents the animals marching into Noah's ark, circling around the cane similar to the threads of a screw. The first is a lion, then comes the tiger, then a fierce leopard, an elephant, a kangaroo, and so on down to the rocky mountain goat. He doesn't give his authority for the latter being in the ark. At the lower end the reptiles are represented, including a snake in the act of swallowing a frog. This piece of work was done wholly with a pen-knife.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FORT WAYNE, Nov. 4 .- A. J. Moynihan managing editor of the Fort Wayne Journal, is critically ill, and small hopes are held out for his recovery. About ten days ago he was thrown from a carriage, receiving a severe cut in his head, which, however, did not incapacitate him from work. The wound did not yield to treatment, and yesterday blood poisoning set in, rendering his condition alarming.

Store and Postoffice Burglarized.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FRANKFORT, Nov. 4 .- Postmaster Thompson's store, at Manson, was last night robbed of $75 worth of stamps, several dollars in cash and a quantity of merchandise. The clerk was sleeping in the store and was overpowered, bound hands and feet and left on the floor. There were three of the thieves and no clew is had.

OBITUARY.

"Tony" Hart, the Well-Known Comedian,

Who Had Been Insane for Months. WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 4 .- "Tony" Hart died at 2:30 o'clock this morning at the Worcester Lunatic Hospital, where he had been confined for many months. His life of, but he has rallied each time before, showing remarkable tenacity.

"Tony" Hart was one of the best known comedians, of the vaudeville school, in the United States. He was about forty years of age, and started in the business as a song and dance performer. Early in the seventies he and Edward Harrigan "doubled up," i. e., formed a professional copartnership, and soon established themselves as very popular performers. They played throughout the country in various companies, and finally started one of their own, achieving success from the start. Afterward they established themselves in New York, where "Harrigan & Hart's Theater" on lower Broadway became one of the most popular of the amusement resorts of the metropolis. It burned several years ago, and about the same time the partners, on account of business differences. separated. Hart went out of the firm and into a professional and physical decline, while Harrigan remained in New York in his own theater. Three or four years ago Hart became incurably ill, from paresis, it is said, and since then he has been an inmate of a lunatic hospital, and has been more or less insane. He was the husband of Gertrude Granville, the actress.

Other Deaths.

Colorado Springs, Col., Nov. 3.—B. W. Steele, editor and owner of the Colorado Springs Gazette, died very suddenly this morning of rheumatism of the heart, from which he has been a sufferer for a number of years. Mr. Steele was forty years of age, a native of Haverhill, Mass., and one of the most popular writers in the country. He was unmarried.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 4.—Ex-Governor Albert D. Marksdied this morning of heart failure. Governor Marks was a successful lawyer, fiftyfive years old. He fought in the confederate army and was Governor of Tennessee from 1879 to 1881. He leaves a wife and two sons.

COSTLY STRIKES ENDED.

San Francisco Iron-Molders Return to Work After Staying Out Eleven Months. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3 .- The strike of the union iron-molders, which began this city Nov. 30, 1889, ended to-day, the union voluntarily declaring the strike off. The cause of the strike was the joint action of the fourteen large foundries in refusing to recognize the rules of the union, which they claimed worked hardship to their in-dustry. About 140 molders and forty coremakers were involved. It is estimated that the strike has cost the union over $100,000, and three lives were lost through violence, the outgrowth of the feeling which prevailed between the molders and foundrymen for the time. The most notable instance was the shooting of Edward Cogan, an apprentice, by James Kerr, proprietor of the Occidental foundry, which occurred last year. Kerr was released, the evidence tending to show that the shooting was accidental. The union, in calling the strike off, states that it is informed that the foundrymen will not discriminate against union members, and that no objection is entertained to the unionizing of shops, if the strike has cost the union over $100,000

Miners Vote to Return to Work. PITTSBURG, Nov. 3 .- The long strike of coal niners of the Pittsburg district, for an advance of 10 cents per ton, is over, and the 12,000 men who have been idie for three months will return to work at the operators' terms. This decision was arrived at at to-day's convention of strikers, when it was unanimously decided to declare the strike off. The strikers have lost in wages nearly $1,500.000, and are in destitute circumstances, many having suffered for the necessaries of life.
The action of the convention has occasioned regular rejoleing throughout the district.

The Secret is Out.

Housekeepers are finding out that many baking powders contain ammonia; perhaps they have tested them; possibly they have caught the pungent and suggestive fumes from a "fresh" can of ammoniated powder. No wonder the manufacturers are afraid to let the people know what such powders are made of.

There is no "patent medicine" mystery about Cleveland's Baking Powder. It is not only free from ammonia and all adulterants, but the composition is plainly stated on every can. The materials are the best Science can produce, and a trial convinces any housekeeper that General Hurst (late Ohio Food Commissioner) was right in saying "Cleveland's is absolutely the best."

MORE IRISH SKULLS BROKEN

Savage Assaults on the McCarthyites at Waterford by the Parnellites.

Timothy Healy Provokes His Enemies by Repeating His Foul Language Concerning Mrs. Parnell-O'Brien and Tanner Hurt.

DUBLIN, Nev. 4 .- The Fenians are again furnously excited over the news from Waterford, and the fact that Healy, in making a speech at an anti-Parnellite meeting, after he was thrashed by McDermott, again alluded to Mrs. Parnell as an English prostitute. It is said that Healy has armed himself and will attempt to kill Mc-Dermott if the latter repeats the assault. To a friend, McDermott said to-day that every time Healy was hit he gave a groan of pain and begged piteously to be allowed to get up, but he [McDermott] would not allow Healy to get up without a promise from the latter never again to defame Mrs. Parnell. McDermott said he believed Healy would have made the promise but for the interference of other people who pushed McDermott away.

Dispatches from Waterford, where the convention of the National Federation is being held, say that great excitement prevails there. The streets are crowded with uproarious mobs of people ready for any kind of a disturbance. The police, in their efforts to control the mob, have been making a free use of their batons, with the result that several civilians have been injured. Mr. Timothy Healy, who was one of the speakers, said, among other things, that he would not be deterred by violence from pursuing the course he had mapped out for himself, and repeated the language in reference to the widow of the Irish leader which he used at Longford on Sunday last, and which led to the chastisement he received at the hands of Mr. McDermott. Mr. Dillon, on arriving at Waterford, was received with mingled cheers and hisses. Three hundred police guarded the federation delegates on their way to the convention in the City Hall. way to the convention in the City Hall. The police repelled charges made by the mob. The Parnellite sympathizers tried to rush through the entrace of the City Hall but were beaten back.

WOMEN TAKE A HAND IN THE ROW. The convention proceeding, Mr. Dillon confirmed Mr. O'Brien's Boulogne revelations, and added that the men now calling him a traitor had telegraphed to him while he was in New York offering him the leadership in succession to Mr. Parnell. Continuing, Mr. Dillon said that in spite of the continuous calumnies heaped upon him, he had never before revealed this fact. Messrs. Harrington and Redmond and other prominent Parnellites had joined in the request, which was made after he declared against the leadership of Mr. Parnell. He refused the leadership because it was a painful and difficult position - a position which he had never sought or wished, and one which he would be slow to accept. After arriving at Boulegne he told them that he could not accept the position unless all concurred in promall, promised that if he [Dillon] took the chairmanship they would be his loyal followers. He had done nothing since that altered his position a hair's breadth. For weeks at Boulogne they were as anxious to get Mr. Parnell out of the leadership as the majority were. If they had steadily adhered to that policy they might have saved Mr. Parnell from an impossible position. If any one in the world was responsible for Mr. Parnell's fate after Mr. Parnell himself, it was the men who, when the supreme hour came, had not sufficient courage, manliness or honorable friendship to take a firm stand and impose their judgment on him. [Cheers].

Mr. Dillon left the convention hall, on his way to the railway station, guarded by police and one hundred priests. A mob followed and kept up a continuous attack until Mr. Dillon obtained shelter in the station. A number of skulls were cracked, Thirty delegates, while crossing a tollbridge, were thrown to the ground and trampled upon, many being badly hurt and bleeding profusely when rescued by the police. Several thousand Parnellites held the approaches to the convention hall and everywhere struck down opponents. The whole quay, a mile in length, was the scene of savage fighting. Many persons were taken to the hospital.

DILLON'S SPEECH. The police fought at a great disadvantage in the riot to-day, owing to the number of women in the crowd, with whom the officers did not care to deal too vigorously. One woman laid about her in such a vigorous way as to put two constables hors du combat. It took three others to bear her, kicking and screaming, a prisoner, from the melee, her screams being every now and then mixed with yells of "murderers," "traitors" and other epithets intended for the McCarthyites. But for the police it is almost certain that the convention would have been overwhelmed by a raging mob bent upon annihilation. A number of Parnellites have gone from Dublin to the scene, and there is reason to apprehend more trouble before the convention completes its session. A number of women of Longford have decided to present to Mr. McDermott a silver-mounted whip.

seriously and many others dangerously injured during the fighting. The Parnellites afterwards stoned the anti-Parnellites from the roof of the Cork market. Mr. Wm. O'Brien received a blow on the head and Dr. Tanner was struck to the ground. The man who was driving the car in which they sat had his skull fractured. Several Parnellites made an attack on the police with stones and sticks and were stontly resisted. The hospitals are busy attending to the in-

Mr. John Redmond and Timothy Harrington have issued a statement to which is attached their names, in reply to Mr. William O'Brien's recent revelations in connection with the Boulogne negotiations. They characterize Mr. O'Brien's statements as artful, dishonest misrepresentations, a shameless breach of confidence and a wanshameless breach of confidence and a wanton outrage on the memory of the dead leader. They say that Mr. O'Brien has given an incomplete and colored account of the negotiations at Boulogne, at the same time suppressing his own copy of the proceedings, which would show that he and his friends proposed to obtain the withdrawal of the deposition of Mr. Pernell by the Catholic nunciation of Mr. Parnell by the Catholic bishops, and to give Parnell by the Catholic bishops, and to give Parnell the right to veto any home-rule bill proposed by the Liberals. The latter condition, it is evident, they say, O'Brien omitted in his revelations from fear of the Gladstonians. The Parnellites did consent to Mr. Parnell's retirement because they knew it mell's retirement because they knew it would have been a sham retirement. They challenge O'Brien to publish Mr. Parnell's letter denouncing these conditions. The making public of this letter is most important to the Irish people. They also accuse Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien with suppressing various letters which had passed between the Pernellites and Messrs. Glad. ing various letters which had passed between the Parnellites and Messrs. Gladstone and Morley, the Liberal leaders. Archbishop Croke and Bishop Walsh, they say, utterly deny that the Parnellites considered the Liberal assurances satisfactory. They also allege that Mr. O'Brien was not satisfied with the promises of the Liberals, and in support of their statement, challenge him to publish a letter which they say he wrote to Mr. Morley begging him to amend his assurances, and Mr. Morley's reply in which he refused to alter a single comma.

Ten Newspapers to Be Sued by a Judge. New York, Nov. 4.—Judge McAdam, of the Superior Court of this city, has decided to sue about ten newspapers, all but one of which are said to be published in other counties, because of articles and editorials published by them concerning the charges made by John I. Davenportagainst him prior to the election. They alleged that Judge McAdam had been lax in the naturalization of citizens, and that improper cases of naturalization had been passed by him.

The fact was published. To-day. Superintendent of Police Schmitt received a telegram from railroad detective Robinson, of Charleston, W. Va., saying he had Barrett in custody.

ITATA CASE APPEALED.

The Attorney-General Is Not Satisfied with the California Court Decision. WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 .- Attorney-general Miller has received a dispatch from the United States Attorney at Los Angeles, Cal., in regard to the Itata case, saying: "The court in an elaborate written opinion has just decided that the purchase and shipment of arms on the Itata was a legitimate commercial transaction, and that the insurgents were not a State, colony, or dis-trict of people within Section 5284." The Attorney-general said that this is a surprise, in view of the fact that Judge Brown, of the Southern district of New York, in the case of Mary N. Hogan (18 Federal Reports, p. 529) and Judge Hughes, of the Eastern district of Virginia, in the case of the United States against 214 boxes of arms (20 Federal Reports, p. 50), have recently decided exactly the reverse. cently decided exactly the reverse. One Girl Loses Her Life in a Galesburg Factory That Was Destroyed. GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 4.-The factory of the Acme Railway Signal and Manufacturing Company, of this city, caught fire this afternoon and in a few minutes was in ashes. Twenty-four children were employed by the concern. All got out in safety save Aurilla Dejoild, whose clothing caught fire before she reached the stairs. Durn Titus rushed back for her, but was con pelled to retreat and was severely burned about the face and arms. The Dejoild girl's body has not yet been found. Her parents, whose son was crushed to death under a building not long since, appeared at the burning building. The factory was a fire-trap, and that children should have been set to work handling such dangerous materials is being severely commented on.

RUN ON A SAVINGS BANK. Depositors in the Boston Five-Cent Institution Demand Their Money. Boston, Nov. 4 .- The run on the Fivecent Savings Bank, which began yesterday, continued to-day. The banking-room was crowded, mostly with women. Policemen guarded the entrance and endeavored to keep the growing crowd moving. The Massachusetts Savings Bank Commissioners say they have made a careful examination of the affairs of the bank, and are prepared at any time to publish the same, if desired, and that it shows that the bank is perfectly sound. Mr. Potter was simply a director of the institution, and had no other official position and absolutely no voice in the management of its affairs other than as a member of the board. President Evans says he will continue to pay out money until it is deemed advisable to take advantage of the sixty-day law. One national bank has offered him $500,000, and he has received offers of large amounts from other institutions. The bank had $1,-027,600 cash at the date of its last state-Santiago a few weeks ago, since the death of Balmaceda and the establishment of the present government. He has received as-The present withdrawals are mostly small Examiner Ewer, of the Maverick National Bank, says that he hopes to get out, within three or four days, some sort of a statement that will enable the other banks to gauge the advance to be made depositors. He could say nothing at present as to what this will show, but intimated that it will be a good deal worse than has been anticipated. Expersenced banking men think there should be a first dividend, say in two or three months, and, allowing for possible litigation, that a final settlement ought to be made three years from now.

The Journal says: "There is nothing in the affairs of the Maverick National Bank of which the clearing-house committee of the Boston associated banks has not been fully advised. The committee has guarded every point. It arranged that Mr. J. P. Beale should be the receiver for well-considered reasons. The facts regarding the loans of the bank have been in possession of the Controller of the Currency since last January, and it is now intimated that another Controller is likely to be appointed before long. The general loan account, outside of the $5,400,000 due from directors and the Evans losses, is good and shows good judgment and careful banking. The directors' loans have still considerable col-lateral behind them. Speculation is the one word that explains all—speculation in stocks and grain, with the Maverick Bank funds backing the deals. The first great speculation of the Maverick Bank was by Messrs. French and Potter in New York and Messrs. French and Potter in New York and New England. It was successful from a pecuniary point of view, but in that success lay concealed the ultimate ruin of the bank. In the New York and New England mystery deal the bank's funds were used to a startling degree, and the system of operations then begun culminated in the ruin of the bank and all its directors. Although the Maverick has been known as a speculative bank, no one outside of Mr. Evans and the directors could have imagined the extent of the speculations. It is now not to be wondered at that when the death of Irving A. Evans was announced Presi-Irving A. Evans was announced President Potter, in the directors' room, should have physically collapsed; but it is a won-der in the light of present revelations, that he should for so many days have patched up affairs and stemmed the current. The Boston banks brought over Monday night many millions of their reserve held in New York, and are in a stronger financial position than has ever been the case for a long time. Money will rule very easy on approved collateral." It is said that no effort will be made to collect upon the joint accounts of Irving A. Evans & Co., of the estate of Mr. Asa Potter, and assignee Pope estimates that the creditors of Irving A. Evans & Co. will get 50 cents on the dollar.

Employes of a carpet-house went to Asa Potter's new house on Fairfield street yesterday and took out all the carpets which the firm had placed on the floors. To-day another firm took out all the gas fixtures.

The Journal is first of all a newspaper. Its primary object is to publish the news, and to secure this it spares no pains or expense. Besides the service of two great news agencies, which cover foreign countries as well as the entire United States, it has a corps of Special Correspondents, who give attention to those events and occurrences that are likely to be of particular interest to the Indiana public. Its Washington bureau was established for the purpose of looking after matters in which the State and its people are concerned, and is under the management of an Indiana man well acquainted with the local business and political issues. It has a correspondent in every town of importance in the State, and is constantly increasing its facilities for obtaining information from every quarter. Its staff of city reporters is large, and its local departments are unexcelled. As a newspaper it is far better equipped than any other in the State, and welcomes comparison with its contemporaries in any and all of its departments. With all it endeavors to be accurate and trustworthy, printing the news, whatever it may be, without personal or parti-

But while the Journal is non-partisan as to news, it is a Republican paper, and sets forth Republican principles. It is important that the people shall read the truth about these principles, and it was with the object of putting everybody in the way of doing so that the price of the

DAILY JOURNAL

----Was reduced to----

15 CENTS A WEEK.

No other method of securing a Republican victory at the polls is so certain as the circulation of Republican papers among voters. Since the reduction in price thousands of subscriptions have poured in from all parts of the State, showing that a need was supplied. In order to have the proper influence and effect upon voters seeking for trustworthy information the Journal should go into their hands at once, and not next spring or summer. Clubs are being formed and agencies established wherever daily mails reach and as rapidly as traveling agents can visit the places, but Republicans in each and every locality cannot do their party greater service than to interest themselves in circulating the Journal,
